

Of Prophets and Scribes

Concepts and Taxonomies of Interpreting Texts in Early China and the Near East

Thursday, November 3, 2016, 16:00–18:00

University of Zurich, URPP Asia and Europe, RAF E-011, Rämistrasse 66, 8001 Zurich

Guest Lecture

Prof. Dr. Joachim Gentz (University of Edinburgh)

Joachim Gentz is Chair of Chinese Philosophy and Religion and Head of Asian Studies at Edinburgh University. His main fields of interest and research are Zhou and Early Han history and philosophy, text and commentary, Chinese religions, Chinese literary composition, Chinese histories of thought, theories of Cultural and Religious Studies especially theories on ritual, divination, sacred space and body conceptions.

Prof. Gentz will give another lecture, organized by the Institute of Religious Studies:

Friday, November 4, 2016, 10:15–12:00

“Religionsästhetische Momente in Zeiten der Kulturrevolution – Und aus deren Asche: die Entstehung einer neuen Religion”

University of Zurich, Institute of Religious Studies, KAA-E-11
 (“Garage”), Kantonsschulstrasse 1, 8001 Zurich